

SOCIETY ANNOUNCEMENTS

SPRING, 1932, MEETING

The Spring, 1932, Convention of the Society is to be held at Washington, D. C., with headquarters at the Wardman Park Hotel. Excellent service is assured and plenty of space is available for accommodating the members without crowding. The Congressional Country Club and the Indian Spring Country Club are both available to the visiting members. In addition, the four tennis courts maintained by the hotel and riding facilities provide additional recreation.

As the Convention is to be held at the height of the activities of the Washington Bi-Centennial celebration, there will be much to attract members to Washington in addition to the technical and social activities of the Society. Sight-seeing tours will be provided for visiting points of historic and diplomatic interest, such as the Capitol, the Treasury, the Smithsonian Institution, the Congressional Library, the Pan-American Building, the new Museum, Scottish Rite Temple, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the Amphitheater, and other points of interest at Arlington, Mount Vernon, and Annapolis.

An especially attractive program of technical papers is being prepared by the Papers Committee, under the chairmanship of Mr. O. M. Glunt; and Mr. W. C. Kunzmann and his Convention Arrangements Committee are sparing no efforts to make the social aspects of the Convention a success. The technical sessions will be held in the Little Theater of the Wardman Park Hotel, and special film programs for the evenings are being arranged by Mr. J. I. Crabtree.

The semi-annual banquet of the Society will be held in the Gold Room of the hotel on Wednesday, May 11th, at 7:30 P.M. In addition to an attractive and entertaining program, an unusually interesting group of speakers is expected to address the members.
