

New electronic humidity controls are described in Bulletin F-5173 recently issued by Barber-Colman Co., Rockford, Ill. It is called two-position and proportioning for process or comfort control. It is a plug-in element designed for wide range with simple adjustments. In spaces supplied by a central fan, the sensing element is mounted either in the duct or the conditioned space, remote from the amplifier and adjustments. For controlling humidity in spaces not completely air conditioned, the control is available with the operating adjustment mechanism mounted in a cabinet.

Nema Movie Guide — 1952 is a compilation of complete data on "16mm Electrical Films." The Guide covers 409 films giving running time, color, sales or rental prices, release dates when ascertainable, sources (producer or chief distributor, with other possibilities covered in an extensive index of producers and distributors), and grading of films when that was obtainable, with keys for: guide or manual; primary; elementary; junior high school; senior high school; college; trade school and trade; and adult education. A 6-page "Classification by Subjects" makes this Guide very useful. It should be noted that there is only one film distributed by NEMA — Installing Armored Cable. All the other 408 films must be ordered from the sources listed. The Nema Movie Guide is available from the National Electrical Manufacturers Association, 155 E. 44 St., New York 17, N.Y.
