

Forthcoming Professional Meetings

The 23rd Audiovisual Institute for Effective Communication — sponsored by the National Audio-Visual Association (NAVA) and Indiana University's Audiovisual Center with the American Society for Training and Development, will be held 14 – 19 October at Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana. The Institute is an orientation and learning program held specifically for those persons involved with audiovisuals in a user context. The intensive program is designed for those who are new to the field or who seek to broaden their involvement into new aspects of communication instruction in business, education, government, and health sciences. Further information is available from Ed Sheehy, NAVA, Assistant Director of Member Services, 3150 Spring St., Fairfax, VA 22031.

Eurocomm 80 — an exhibition and conference on advanced communications technology, will be held 17 – 19 June 1980 at the Bella Center in Copenhagen, Denmark. The event is intended for persons who develop, produce, or use highly advanced communications equipment. Topics to be covered during the conference will include communication by means of satellite, optic cables, microwaves, or complex computer systems. Also to be covered are electronic handling of simple or complicated messages in text processing equipment, data net terminals, or television apparatuses. There will also be discussion of such topics as teletext, teletex and telefax, and advanced telecommunications equipment. Cable television will also be discussed during the conference sessions. Further information is available from Bella Center A/S, Center Blvd., DK-2300 Copenhagen S, Denmark.

The 8th International Broadcasting Convention — IBC 80, will be held at the Metrople Conference and Exhibition Centre in Brighton, England, 20 – 24 September 1980.
