IN A WORLD OF SUBTLETY, NUANCE, AND HIDDEN MEANING...

ISN'T IT GOOD TO KNOW THERE'S SOMETHING THAT CAN EXPRESS EVERY MOOD.

The most evocative scenes in recent movies simply wouldn't have been as effective without the film medium. The artistic versatility of Eastman color negative films allows you to establish any kind of mood or feeling, without losing believability.

Film is also the most flexible post-production medium. When you transfer your superior original negative imagery to videotape or to film, you can expect exceptional results. So express your moods and feelings on Eastman color films, the best medium for your imagination.

Eastman film. It's looking better all the time.

HOW TO TECHNOLOGICALLY ADVANCE YOUR BOTTOM LINE.

You are looking at what many experts believe to be two of the most effective forms of investment spending in the industry today.

The Sony BVE-5000 editor and BVH-2000 recorder. Two extraordinary machines created for a single and simple purpose:

To help you shuttle more customers in and out of your facility than ever before.

THE FIRST THING THEY EDIT IS DOWNTIME.

Every day, in countless production facilities around the country, $400-an-hour editing suites are reduced to high-priced waiting rooms by editing systems that fail to function.

Leaving anxious facility owners and disgruntled clients making small talk instead of headway.

While they ponder an all-too-common question:

"How long will we be down this time?"

Thanks to the Sony editing system, this scenario is rarely, if ever, played out in leading production houses like Broadway Video, Videoworks, JSL and a host of others currently using it.

The reason?

"Sony belongs to a small group of manufacturers that still think of broadcast equipment as a product, not an experiment," says Frank Herold, chief editor of Videoworks in New York.

"When you take a piece of Sony equipment out of the box and plug it in, an amazing thing happens. It works!"

And keeps working. Faster. Easier. And more precisely than any other system.

THE MOST INTELLIGENT CONVERSATION YOU'LL EVER HAVE WITH A MACHINE.

Today, there are any number of people trying to compete in this, a communications industry, with machines that can't even communicate with each other.

An irony not lost on all those who have invested in the equipment you see here.

All elements of the Sony editing system have been programmed to speak to each other fluently.

And to understand each other perfectly.

With absolutely nothing lost in translation or transmission.

You'll find that they're geared to speak equally well with Sony's Beta® and U-matic® recorders. Not to mention with you.

The system's high-resolution CRT screen provides clear, easy-to-follow instructions. Asks questions when you haven't been explicit enough. And delivers the most comprehensive, and yet, comprehensible display in the industry.

A MYRIAD OF FUNCTIONS WITHOUT A MYRIAD OF BUTTONS.

The BVE-5000 control panel has the capacity to make an editor feel like an editor, not like a typist.

Strikingly short of buttons, the system is in no way short of features. Offering dynamic tracking. Variable speed search. Full Biderex Jog. And Vertical Interval Time Code.

Each of which, like everything else in the Sony system, helps to push profits in a rather vertical direction.
